The Reading / Listening - Machu Picchu - Level 0

Machu Picchu is getting an international airport. A million tourists visit Machu Picchu every year. Seven million people could visit with the new airport. Direct flights will fly into the heart of the Machu Picchu area. The government says this will be great for Peru's tourism industry.

Machu Picchu was built 600 years ago. It is 2,430 meters up in the Andes Mountains. It is a UNESCO World Heritage site. People are unhappy about the new airport. They say it will damage Machu Picchu and its farming villages. One person said the noise and traffic from the airport could damage Machu Picchu.

Why Utah might be your next favorite snorkeling destination

By Jennifer Nalewicki Smithsonian.com | June 06, 2019 |

 560L 830L 1060L 1450L Assign to Google Classroom

There's an ocean in the middle of landlocked Utah. Linda Nelson is a scuba diving instructor who tells people about the ocean. They look at her in disbelief. For the past 30 years she's been luring scuba divers and snorkelers to Bonneville Seabase. It's a chain of pools. They are warm and spring-fed. They are located on an expanse of desert about 40 miles west of Salt Lake City.
